

BLUELAW AWARDED CJPS CONTRACT BY STATE/INL

BlueLaw International is pleased to announce that it has been named a prime contract holder as a small business for the Criminal Justice Program Support ID/IQ (CJPS) by the State Department's Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement (INL).

BlueLaw provides technical services on rule of law, justice and security sector reform, human rights, anti-corruption, and public administration reform programs with active contracts with INL, USAID and the Department of Defense.

As an implementer in the key areas of defense, diplomacy, and development, and with previous and on-going work in more than 25 countries, BlueLaw is adept at implementing effective programs in fragile, conflict-affected, and post-conflict states.

"BlueLaw is ready to bring its depth of services, unique approach and successful implementation history to our partnership with INL at this important time for US foreign policy. We are dedicated to support INL's commitment to provide top-notch justice system and rule of law expertise around the world," said BlueLaw's Senior Partner and Integrated Law Enforcement and Development practice area lead Sudhir Mahara.
